

POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

The "forgotten man" in America, since the start of the all-out national defense production program, has been the small industrialist—the man with a shop geared to peace-time needs, rather than the manufacture of bombs, ships and flying fortresses!

That is the almost unanimous verdict of California Congressmen who have been swamped with frantic appeals for aid from small manufacturers and business men in every section of the state.

With their supply of production materials suddenly choked off, due to defense priority restrictions, hundreds of small factories and machine shops have closed their doors. And thousands of others must soon follow suit unless relief is speedily given.

Similarly, dealers and retailers—dependent on such factories for the things they sell—have been hard hit and are finding it increasingly difficult to stay in business.

"The plight of the small manufacturer and the workers in his plant, represents the most serious dislocation which has occurred in the country's economic life since the crash of 1929," Congressman Tom Rolph asserted, in summing up the situation. "California, due to the fact that this state is now one of the leading industrial areas in the nation, has a particularly acute problem."

Unofficial word has been received from Washington that the super defense board headed by Vice President Henry Wallace, will shortly order priority restrictions relaxed for small, non-defense industries, but the extent of the relief to be accorded is still unknown.

New policies are said to be in the making by the super defense board to enable non-defense plants to obtain necessary production materials on a quota basis. It is reported, but as yet without official confirmation, that all supplies contained in the government priority list, chiefly rubber and steel, will be available to small factories within 30 days.

More than 184,000 factories and plants throughout the country, some already shut down—others faced with the threat of being forced to close their doors—will be affected by the board's decision.

And the jobs of approximately 2,000,000 workmen in small industrial plants are at stake.

In addition, hundreds of thousands of wholesale and retail business houses will be saved tremendous losses if a means is found of relaxing the priority restrictions without jeopardizing production for defense.

The "forgotten man" is hopeful of the right answer!

Dean Chamberlin, teacher of dramatics, journalism and English in the high school arrived Sunday from his home in Chico to be ready for his classes Monday. He was accompanied by his brother Charles who visited here for a few days.

Gene Baird Weds San Luis Obispo Girl

The many friends of Gene Baird were pleased to learn of his return to Campbell, following his marriage in Sacramento last week to Miss Priscilla Mae Jones of San Luis Obispo.

Having kept their plans a secret from all but their families and a few very intimate friends they decided to be married in the girlhood home of Gene's mother, the Rev. J. Scherbacker reading the service in the chapel of the Westminster Presbyterian church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Ross A. Jones of Watsonville. She wore an afternoon dress of green wool with brown accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Serving the groom as best man was Royal Roberts of Willow Glen.

A reception and buffet luncheon were held at the home of Mrs. B. W. Wright, aunt of the groom.

Among the guests present were the bride's mother and step-father, Dr. and Mrs. Newell Noy of San Luis Obispo, her father, Mr. Ross Jones; the groom's mother, Mrs. Charles Baird of San Jose; his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Trowbridge; Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Roberts; and Mr. Charles Ricketts of Los Gatos.

Mr. and Mrs. Baird are now established in Campbell, in the apartment in the Cutting building, where the groom's parents formerly lived. He is now a department manager for the Kopper Kettle Donut company.

Mrs. Ethan Lanphear Not Badly Hurt

Mrs. Ethan Lanphear who was reported in an auto accident last week, was found to be not seriously injured, but did suffer from severe shock.

Her husband and other relatives who journeyed north to the locale in which the accident occurred learned that the car skidded on a slippery pavement and plunged down a 300-foot embankment. All three occupants of the car were thrown out, and Miss Edla Olsen was killed. For some time no one could locate her relatives, but they have since come from the east to claim the body.

Mrs. Lanphear's sister, Mrs. Hazel Griest, was found to have a broken back and broken ribs, by x-rays taken at the hospital in Crescent City where she was taken.

Another sister from Los Angeles joined Mrs. Lanphear and the two are remaining until Mrs. Griest can be taken by ambulance plane to a Los Angeles hospital which will have complete facilities for taking care of her injuries.

Mother of Local Funeral Director Painfully Injured

Mrs. Nellie Rutherford, mother of David Rutherford of Rutherford Funeral Home is at O'Connor sanitarium recovering from a dislocated hip which she suffered last Friday afternoon.

Passing motorists took her in a truck to the hospital in Healdsburg and on Saturday she was brought by San Jose Ambulance company to O'Connor sanitarium.

Examination disclosed the dislocated hip, cuts and bruises but not some of the more serious injuries feared at first.

Increase In High Faculty Numbers 2

In order to care for the high school enrollment which is over 800 and more anticipated, the classes will be staggered, part of the students starting work at 8 o'clock and the others at 9. The school was designed for 750 which seemed adequate for some time, but the unusual growth of Campbell as a residential section, and the number of families brought into the district for defense work has already brought an excess of enrollment capacity.

The faculty has been increased by two additional teachers. Miss Ruth Eales, a Stanford graduate, will assist with girls' physical education and in the science department.

Another instructor in the science department is Arnold Applegarth, a San Jose State alumnus who has taught the past three years in Redlands.

Kenneth McDonnell, a graduate of San Francisco State and the University of California, who has been teaching in Vacaville for three years, is the new member in the musical department, as a replacement.

Much additional equipment in the shops will make it possible to train high school pupils in preparation for work in national defense.

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Jim Childers of Campbell, a son, Hubert Lee, Sunday, August 31, at O'Connor sanitarium.

SAN FRANCISCO'S BLACK EYE

In bygone years the City of San Francisco proudly boasted that it was a "good labor town"; that labor there enjoyed better wages, better working conditions and a better standard of living than in almost any other city in the nation. But in recent years San Francisco has so often appeared in public with a black eye, due to unwarranted strikes and labor disturbances, that the city has been constantly inventing excuses and making apologies for the conduct of its labor leaders and workers.

Apparently, however, San Francisco has grown tired of wearing a patch on its eye—and instead of turning the other cheek has decided to prove to the rest of the state that it is hrough giving in to unreasonable demands of its labor bosses. With a month-long restaurant strike just concluded, with which many rank and file workers involved obviously were not sympathetic, the city is now confronted with a hotel strike involving all its "big name" hostilities and many small ones. But instead of closing up and giving in, the hotels have announced that they will stay open and that business will continue as usual.

The issue in the hotel strike is not hours, wages or working conditions. The issue is whether the hotels will submit to 100 per cent closed shop conditions and a union hiring hall. In other words, the question is whether the hotel management will continue to run the hotels, or whether they shall be operated by union organizers. The hotels have decided it is time to fight rather than surrender, and we hope they make it stick. Arrogance of labor leaders in San Francisco has passed all bounds—and if the city is to remain a free, American community, a halt must be called. This community and other communities throughout California, which have always felt sorry for San Francisco when it was forced to send out good will caravans to alibi for its constant succession of black eyes, wish the City by the Golden Gate well, as it makes its fight to re-win its independence and the respect of its sister cities.

TAX ON RED-HOTS

When you're munching a hot dog, what do you think about? Probably whether you should have another. Certainly you don't open up your red-hot and start looking for hidden taxes. But an enterprising tax expert has done that for you—with surprising results!

Here's the dope on the tax problem as it relates to Coney Island red-hots: There are 67 separate taxes hidden in the average hot dog. And the foot-long bun the dog comes wrapped in has at least 53 tax payments milled and baked into it. The taxes, it seems, start with the farmer and continue adding up every step of the way from the producer to the consumer. The packing house, the retail butcher, two sets of supply houses, the railroads and the truckers all pay taxes that eventually are incorporated in the dog you love to eat. And a penny out of each nickel you pay, when you stand at the hot dog counter, goes to the tax collector.

What will you think about the next time you eat a hot dog? Well, probably just what you thought about before. That's why politicians prefer hidden taxes.

CONSTITUTION DAY

National unity will keynote this year celebration on Wednesday, September 17, of the anniversary of the signing of the Constitution at Philadelphia 154 years ago.

In these strained times, national unity is well worth a day's patriotic observance, as is the Constitution itself. It is the most vital of all safeguards to that great document of freedom, to our democracy and to the way of life this nation prefers to follow. And it is important to realize that we have more of national unity than we had a year ago or ten years ago. Just as a loyal family is drawn closer together by personal assault from outsiders, threats to a nation's well being draws its citizens into a closer-knit body.

Undeniably there is still room for improvement. There is need for labor and employers to thresh out their differences and to do it speedily and sanely. There is need for closer understanding between business and government. There is transcending need for people to shoulder their obligations along with their privileges as citizens.

Nevertheless, as international uncertainty grows, solidarity at home expands, too. That would probably please, more than anything else, the great men who phrased the Constitution Americans revere.

A FORMER GOVERNOR DIES

All of California is a man's community when he's Governor. His time, his activities, his ability—his very life belongs to the service of every-day citizens. When his term of office is over, though, capable ex-Governors too often slip from public life and public effort, and their loss is a real one to the state as a whole.

Dr. George C. Pardee, who was Governor during the great San Francisco earthquake and fire of 1906, died the other day at the age of 84. He was one of the ex-Governors of California who served his state in a hundred public capacities, year after year throughout his long life, before, during and long after his term as Chief Executive.

Dr. Pardee was a member of his city's board of health, president of its municipal utility district, member of its port commission, city councilman, public health doctor and mayor. He was regent of the University of California, member of the National Conservation commission, and an active member of more public committees than can be counted. He was chairman of the State Forestry commission, president elector for Teddy Roosevelt and Calvin Coolidge, chairman of the State Water Resources commission and Governor of California.

Nobody can remember all of Governor Pardee's public activities. Most everybody will remember some of them. Dr. Pardee will be remembered with affection and respect by his home community, Oakland, and with honor by all of California, who knew him for three-quarters of a century as one of her first citizens.

COLLEGE DIVIDENDS

Columbia University surveys the field and finds that the average college graduate has earned $72,000 more than a high school graduate by the time he is 60 years old.

We wish the survey had gone farther. Did the college men and women with their sights higher, work any harder for their goal than the others? Did they die any sooner? Was it worth the additional money? Mainly, were they happier for having gone to college and learned how to make $72,000 more? If a survey could be devised to measure happiness, we wonder in whose favor the balance would tip.

The FARMERS CORNER
by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

Fortunately for the people back home, all the bills that are introduced during a legislative session aren't written into the statute books. Thousands die in committees without ever reaching the floor of the Legislature. Hundreds of others are killed in either the Senate or Assembly—and when the Legislature has done its best, or worst, as the case may be, the Governor uses the veto axe on still others.

Good bills as well as bad bills often get lost in the legislative shuffle, but of recent years the farming industry has been more interested in defeating dangerous legislation than in securing the enactment of its own program.

Governor Olson vetoed 146 bills enacted by the Legislature this year, but the Legislature over-rode his veto in eight instances. The Legislature itself killed 2,669 of its brain-children, including 2,590 bills and 79 proposed constitutional amendments.

Several important farm bills were among those vetoed by the Governor. Among the measures which won't become law, due to Governor Olson's refusal to sign them, are the following:

S. B. 3, raising the maximum weight limits for fees on small trucks.

S. B. 257, dealing with branding of animals on the neck.

S. B. 393, reducing the maximum tax under the Personal Income Tax.

S. B. 1016, clarifying the definition of "implements of husbandry" in the vehicle code.

A. B. 560, comprehensive amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act. The definition of "agricultural labor" was not included in the final bill.

A. B. 928 deducting bridge tolls from the computation of gross receipts under the 3 per cent Truck Tax Act.

A. B. 1026, requiring citrus fruits for intrastate shipment to be in packed boxes.

A. B. 1039, to permit spreading of losses over a period of years under the Personal Income Tax Act.

A. B. 1717, permitting the Director of Agriculture to set cream prices in milk stabilization areas.

A. B. 2161, to eliminate the position of Immigration Inspector in the Division of Immigration and Housing.

A. B. 2162, transferring the Division of Immigration and Housing from the De-

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q. Can Defense Savings Stamps be redeemed?

A. Yes; they can be redeemed for cash at face value or exchanged for Defense Savings Bonds. For example, 75 of the 25-cent Stamps—total cash value $18.75—may be exchanged for a Defense Savings Bond which in 10 years will be worth $25.

Q. How long have Defense Savings Stamps been on sale at retail stores?

A. Sale of Stamps at retail stores originated in the State of Michigan on July 10. The idea met with such success that it is spreading rapidly, and soon Stamps will be sold in most retail stores on a nation-wide basis.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simonds are again at their home on Winchester and Kennedy avenues after a delightful summer spent in the Hawaiian Islands.

partment of Industrial Relations to the Department of Public Health.

A. B. 2651, exempting the producer who rolls or crushes grain of his own production from regulation under the Feeding Stuffs Law.

The Governor's veto of the bill which would have permitted the spreading of losses over a period of years under the Personal Income Tax Act was a serious setback to the farming industry. Farmers, by the very nature of their business, often have heavy losses for several years running, due to crop failures, freezes, unfavorable marketing conditions, or other factors beyond their control. But when the farmer has a good year and hopes to pay off some of the debts accumulated in lean years, he is taxed on his entire net income for the year—and is not permitted to make deductions for losses in the years before. Governor Olson's veto of the bill which would have corrected this injustice will cost California farmers many thousands of dollars in income taxes that they should not be required to pay.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

"You Can't Do Business With Hitler," by Douglas Miller.

After reading the inside facts about how Hitler does business, no true American would want or dare do business with Hitler.

Your Book Mark, though only a mere slip of pink paper, got mighty indignant when going through Douglas Miller's book. I feel every true blooded American should read it, particularly business men. If anyone is in doubt about the way Hitler does business, all hesitations will be swept away when he reads this book.

The author was our commercial attache in Berlin for many years and his words are plain, cold facts. He tells what happened to American investments in Germany, to American firms and industries that tried to carry on business with Hitler. Africa, South America and other countries have been pulled into Hitler's scheme of world trade. He operates a barter system, and in one instance he contracted for the entire wool crop of Africa and in return was to send automobiles, tractors and machinery. He received the wool and had it made into uniforms, but he was so busy with making war materials he has not had time to send the agreed machinery, etc., to Africa. American industries in Germany have been forced to close their business and sacrifice everything.

Miller goes to great length to explain what the world economic system would be like under Hitlerism. He makes it imperative that the democracies must destroy Hitlerism.

This is a book that everyone should include on his or her "must read" list.

What Campbell is reading: "The Keys Of The Kingdom" by Dr. A. J. Cronin; "Berlin Diary," by William L. Shirer; "Captain Paul" by Commander Edward Ellsberg; "This Above All" by Eric Knight; "The Last Frontier" by Howard Fast.

At a meeting of the trustees of the Cambrian school district it was decided to open the fall term on Sept. 22.

The schedule of the new school bus will be announced at that time, and the bus will go into operation on Tuesday, Sept. 23, according to the principal, Bernard Watson. Frank Coombs, is the new driver of the bus.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerome de Rollin were visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Collins of McCoy avenue, and friends last week before returning to their home in Santa Monica. They had spent part of the summer at their cottage at Lake Tahoe.

Mrs. Bergeron To Open Classes In Piano Here

A welcome addition to the musical circles of Campbell is Mrs. Eugene J. Bergeron. Her specialty is teaching piano to children. Having always had a great love for children perhaps accounts in part for her unusual success in teaching them.

Mrs. Bergeron had charge of the children's department in a southern college when she decided to continue her musical studies in Chicago. There she was a scholarship student in piano with the well known concert pianist and teacher, Silvio Scionti. She has quite a broad musical back ground, for besides studying piano, she has studied organ, violin, voice, dramatics, Dalcroze Eurythmics, and is the composer of several pieces, mainly for children.

She has taught in various music schools in Chicago and suburbs and the last few years before moving here were spent teaching class piano in the grammar schools of Chicago. She was also for a time, organist at First Presbyterian church, Wheaton, Illinois, a suburb of Chicago.

Men Wore Lace

Orchard City Grange

The meeting of the Orchard City Grange was held Tuesday evening, Sept. 9 in I. O. O. F. hall, Campbell.

Mrs. Lavinia Grattan of the education committee gave a report on the extent of illiteracy in the army. There is a large percentage, particularly from the southern states. Some of them, she reported, cannot even write their names.

Supervisor Joe McKinnon gave a very interesting talk on the proposed dividing strip through Burbank. From Bascome to Race the dividing strip will be 22 feet wide, and from there on to the viaduct it will be 14 feet. Lanes have already been widened, but if in the future more width is needed, McKinnon said, it can be cut from the center strip.

Mervyn Keesling told some more about the "jitterbug," his own invention for loading and unloading prunes. He also gave a report on marketing.

A very enlightening report on the county fair was given by J. C. Gordon. The committee reported favorably on the matter of Orchard City Grange having an exhibit of its own besides contributing to the Pomona exhibit.

The background of the 20 by 18 ft. booth will represent Campbell, and the theme will be beautiful homes and schools. Lloyd Selig, a fellow Granger, will work on the artistic background. Lambert Skillman will be chief carpenter and he and Mrs. Skillman will arrange flowers. Mervyn Keesling will arrange fruit, jams and jellies. Saturday night, Oct. 11 will be the Grange program.

R. B. Frick, master of the Mountain View Grange, was a visitor for the evening.

The lecture program was under the leadership of Lambert Skillman and consisted of a musical program by Mr. and Mrs. David Rutherford. Mr. Rutherford sang the "Recessional" and the two sang a duet "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

Congressman Is Host to Publishers

Congressman Jack Anderson was host to newspapermen and radio officials from all over his district Sunday at a barbecue at his ranch near San Juan. Swimming was another feature of the day.

In an informal talk during the afternoon the Congressman spoke and held an open forum for questions.

Tonight at the civic auditorium in San Jose five American Legion posts of the district are sponsoring a reception and non-political mass meeting at which Congressman Anderson will be guest and speaker.

As a member of the house naval affairs committee he has just toured a number of the Pacific naval outposts and bases, and will explain features of our defense situation and steps being taken by Washington to meet our international and domestic problems.

The public is cordially invited to attend and learn more personally about this situation.
